TAKING THE PULSE

It's no secret that President Roosevelt intends to take the country's pulse on the way to Seattle and back. He wants to reestablish direct contact with the common people.

His position necessarily places him in isolation, for his own safety. He can see callers only by appointment. The time he can devote to visiting is limited.

Members of his official family are responsible, therefore, for keeping him informed. Undoubtedly, they are not in a position to be carriers of bad news, which is the only kind the chief executive needs to know about.

Furthermore, each of them has a special interest to serve. Every president has been the victim of this situation; every political leader from the beginning has been handicapped by it. When King Alfred the Great went among his people in disguise, he was on serious business, not a lark.

So Mr. Roosevelt will be carried clikety-clack over thousands of miles of railroad track, stopping to take aboard regional dignitaries to ride to the next stop, making a speech here and there, acknowledging the cheers of the crowds—taking the pulse of the country.

A doctor with leather mittens trying to feel a pulse through a heavy sweater and a woolen undershirt would have a better chance.

BIRTHDAY THOUGHT

On Sept. 23, in the year 63 B. C., Gaius Octavius was born in Rome. In due time he became first of the Roman emperors, took charge of everything in person, was given the title of Augustus and secured for himself a permanent place in the history books.

He spoke of himself as "master of all things," and he was. When he died, 14 years after the birth of Christ, the empire he had welded from the ruins of the republic controlled the Mediterranean basin. His influence was felt for many decades, though the glory that was Rome steadily diminished after his death.

This month, Italy will celebrate the birthday of Augustus, in the grand manner. There will be a magnificent exhibition of the art and architecture of the Augustan age. In numerous ways Italians and their neighbors will be made to feel that the Italy of Mussolini and the Italy of Augustus are related.

To make the thing complete, unless there is a revision of plans, Il Duce will put a climax to the birthday by departing for Germany, where, as a "gesture of vitality," he and Adolf Hitler will confer on ways and means of enhancing fascist prestige. Perhaps they even may mention the fact that by crowding the despised "democracies" too far, Italy now finds Great Britain and France grimly cooperating to keep Italy from ruling the Mediterranean.

Augustus had his troubles, but democracies which can be shoved so far and no further weren't among them.

POOR MIXTURE

The 40-hour work week in France is a plank in the platform of the popular front minority which controls the government.

This minority naturally is proud of what it has done for labor. It is even more proud of the fact that it is running France.

France, however, may be skeptical of its blessings. Take the 40-hour work week, for instance.

Due to the fact that France is underpopulated (there is no unemployment) a rigid 40-hour week has the effect of restricting French factories to about one-third of the possible production. The effect of that is to limit profits and hold down buying power.

And the effect of that is to cause capital to look for profit outside France and to cut down buying power. Wage earners are restless because they lack where-withal to buy what they need to attain the French version of the more abundant life.

Thus, the government flounders further and further into debt to make things easier for workers who are trying to mix some of the more attractive policies of socialism with the hard rule of capitalistic society that enterprise must be profitable before it can pay higher wages.

A few thousand miles help to give perspective to puzzles like this.

THE STARS SAY:

For Friday, September 24.

The planetary positions for this day promise progress, prosperity, popularity, prestige and much happiness in both the business and private lives. The finances are under excellent rule for increase, possessions and investments are under stabilizing influence, affairs with large and secret combinations should flourish and employment promises rewards, honors and promotion. Altogether it is an expanding, warming and fruitful direction, bringing gratification to all aspirations.

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a year of advancement, growth, expansion and happiness, with finances increasing, business expanding and stabilized, and prestige and popularity enlarged. It is a year for pushing to high goals with assurance and confidence.

A child born on this day may have excellent endowments for attaining prosperity and happiness in life. Its personal popularity and worth make for prestige with those in high places. Its social graces and nobility of character assure it a position of influence and public emolument.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—New York has innumerable boys and girls who are already living in the past. Strange youth that expresses the yearning of the old folk in their remembering when. These are youngsters whose gilded teens were brought to a sudden stop by the crack-up.

They had their ponies and dog carts. Some had roadsters, charge accounts galore, and they joined the seasonable higras to Palm Beach and Europe. They were too young to understand, have never recovered from the bolt of lightning, and are wondering the why of things.

Like the elders of other generations, they cannot keep from dwelling on better days. They like to tell stories that give them opportunity to refer to nurses, governesses, tutors, the fully equipped play rooms and of their brief stays at fashionable boarding schools.

Hundreds of these youths now live in walk-ups or in one of the all alike cottages on some lost street of a suburb. They spend their days searching for jobs they cannot find. Entertainment consists of one evening a week at a double movie feature and a snack at a hamburger hutch.

Not many New Yorkers winnow more fun out of the art of prowling than Russ Cole, the cartoonist. Middle West born, the big town is to him, a Bagdad where adventure lurks around every corner. He takes it afout as all expert prowlers do. Saturday and Sunday he devotes to rambling. He knows every mile of Staten Island, unknown to most New Yorkers. He dines at many of the ancient inns, almost the same as they were in revolutionary days. He explores the pawn shops of the Bowery, sits in the sullen atmosphere of upstairs hotel offices, listening to the mumble of dead hopes, and talks to hardy figures along the water front. Bert Lytell, the actor, is another prowler who has covered Manhattan island from tip to tip afout.

Somehow I grow increasingly crotchety about over-exploitation. Edgar Bergen's Charlie McCarthy is a case in point. In the beginning I caroled his capers in type and in talk. He seemed the perfect entertainment. Then he went haywire about publicity, climaxing it the other week with that phoney that he had been the cause of a broken engagement between Bergen and some actress. In my city editing days it would not have gotten a line. So Charlie to me has become just another smart aleck, and I hate smart alecks and hope my buddy, W. C. Fields, smacks him down so he will stay down. Anyway, my affections have been transferred to Tommy Riggs' Betty Lou. There is a honey!

Fame: Connecticut gives the same auto licenses to owners for five years at a stretch. Thus if you go to the trouble they will fix you up as they did Heywood Brown with HEY, George Bye, BYE, and Westbrook Pegler, PEG.

Showmen say no great illusionist has appeared to take Houdini's place. In fact, there has been a distinct falling off in exponents of magic since his demise. His fame was so great no one thought of trying to assume his place. And his tricks so difficult no one tried to excel him. Everyone who tries to essay his escape stunts before huge crowds faces public indifference. Always they are thinking of Houdini and turn away with a yawn. It's the same way with Will Rogers. Sensibly, no one tried to fill his shoes.

Thingumbobs: Earl Carroll in his 40's has had and lost three fortunes of nearly a million. . . . Mark Hellinger was recently left $125,000 by the will of his father. . . . Wilton Lackaye, Jr., conducts an antique shop in Connecticut.

MEDICAL CONVENTIONS

WE HEAR a lot about the meetings of the various medical associations. Doctors from all parts of the country recently met at Atlantic City in annual convention.

No doubt many questions arise in the mind of some of our readers as to the purpose of these meetings. You have wondered and asked, "Why do doctors get together?"

Yet for over 100 years, even through periods of depression and other critical times, doctors have annually held meetings and discussed important scientific problems.

The average layman may fail to remember that even though a physician is authorized to practice medicine, he does not stop in his efforts to familiarize himself with rare and unusual diseases. By close contact with other doctors and out of these conventions, new forms of treatment are discovered and accurate methods of diagnosis are perfected. These evidences of progress are used for the good of the general public.

It is difficult for the doctor in active practice to keep abreast with the progress of medicine. Yet, he must do this. By attending medical society meetings, state and national, he escapes falling behind in one of the most progressive of professions.

Journals Valuable

Also the doctor has at his disposal many medical journals. These contain articles on rare and unusual diseases, as well as the discussion of new forms of treatment for the familiar ailments.

It is impossible to overstate the importance of the knowledge contributed every day by doctors engaged in the different specialties of medicine. Improvements are gradually made, of course, and only perfected after they have been repeatedly subjected to the most severe tests and criticism.

Medical conventions actually serve as a testing ground for new theories that are advanced. No radical procedure is ever tried on a human unless it meets with the approval of the profession as a whole. Similarly, no rash statement or claims of cures or discoveries are ever made by ethical physicians until all question of doubt has been eliminated.

I speak of these things to remind you that when your doctor is away at a medical convention, don't be vexed with him if you happen to need him just then. He is learning things that may be very important to you some day.

OF BACKACHESThis Old Treatment Often
Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

CHAPTER LIII

The Gateposts—ahead!" shouted. "And—so help me! Page is through himself!"

Pointed to the Taku Wind, lengths in the lead and swinging toward the tall rock pit that stood splitting the roaring. For the space of a long with Page's boat held firmly to course; then, like a frightened, veered quickly and glided down the safer longer channel. "The weaklin' didn't get the nerve!"

There was something dynamic, nervous, in the way Bourne's eyes gripped the spokes then, as he saw his shoulders heave to a strong pull. Gears screamed, as bow swung toward the Gateposts.

Instant later the Maid was struck on a tumult of sound and and terror that drained the from Denny's heart. Two sailors rushed at her... leaped and flashed past, one on either side. Thunder of water echoing exhausts. Speed down like channel—green banks being backward.... half-fall-out-leaving trees slapping the trails.... the tip of a cotton-grazing the pilothouse; scap along the sun deck, crunching a lifeboat. An oath from Harp, as from below, and the spinning crash of the lifeboat's fall side.

Denny, unable to bear more, flung himself into Van Cleve's arms and faced her against his breast. The Maid roared on.

Through Denny. Look like one coming out of an aesthetic, she heard Van's thin, voice and lifted her head. He was comparatively quiet. The was again in the regular, which had widened per-ly. Directly opposite, but near Harp's bank, the Taku Wind was pushing a sunlit wave ahead of its nose.

More the boats were racing and neck.

He had not relaxed his vigi-at the wheel. "Harp!" he said. "Ask Felix how many turns he can give me without losing her."

Harp snatched the tube off its put the question through, and ed for the answer.

Reported: "Bearings hot to fry eggs. But he can give forty more for about fifteen es. After that—peluck!" He ed with a gesture of defeat. "I'll him to stand by to open her when he gets my next jingle."

His voice had the quality of sparks from a high-tension it charged the atmosphere of pilothouse with suspense. De-er danger, but had no idea as to where it lay.

He saw only the widening chan-at swept down toward a in the trees on the right-shore. That, so Harp was tell-Van, was Moonlight Creek, ing into the Stikine. Some-ice downstream, on the same where the Taku Wind was ing swiftly along, the sun-water dimpled peaceful-Moonlight Bar. No sign of anywhere, yet—

Engine-room signal clanged. He jerked off balance by the responsive leap that set window shuddering. Bourne a queer, choked sound. Si-cessfully the Maid reeled from ouse and hurtled erratically right.

"Grab the whistle cord!" etric chill of emergency was me's quick shout; in the in-uous change of his stance at eel. "Keep the danger signal every minute. Shan't Get to ridge—yell—wave your arms at the devil! Tongass! Out to k!"

A flash the Maid became a of paralyzing terror—whis-thing continuous warnings; jumping up and down on the screaming, gesticulating; as facing crazily about the eck with shrill wolf cries. And Maid, like a blinded, goaded hurling herself straight into ath of the Taku Wind, while Bourne, obviously helpless, crouched over his wheel.

Frightened and bewildered by the bedlam, Denny clung to the window, striving to see the hidden menace which her every sense told her must be upon them. "Van! What's wrong?" she cried. "What's happened?"

The doctor's voice sounded doubtful, not reassuring. "Steering gear, maybe. Out of control."

Her wildly staring eyes saw the hull of the Wind plunging along, a little to the right, saw the water lane between the two boats nar-rowing with appalling speed. Aboard the Wind, men in confusion ran about the decks, shouting through cupped hands towards the Maid, waving excited arms.

Bourne's crew were boiling through the Maid's forward com-panion to her lower deck. Fear grayed their faces; they yelled questions and fumbled in their haste, as they snatched up fend-ers and ran with them toward the bow.

Even to Denny's untrained eyes, it was clear that another moment must see the two vessels plunged together in a disastrous collision, unless something were done, and done quickly.

Page, head and shoulders thrust far out through his wheelhouse window, gauged with fear-widened eyes the lessening gap between his vessel and the bow of the runaway Maid. Then, with the instinctive response of the expert riverman, he veered his ship toward the star-board shore, lengthening the angle at which the boats were converg-ing. His action postponed the col-lision—for a few minutes.

Denny, breathless amid the con- tinuous din, thought now Bourne would do something to save them. He had never yet failed in a river emergency. She dragged her gaze back to him and—her heart stop-ped.

His hand was not busy on the bell-pull. He was not issuing in-cisive orders. He was crouched motionless over his wheel, both hands resting lightly on the spokes while the Maid rushed forward. There was a hard, cruel curl to his lips; a ruthless gleam in his eyes, peering out over his ship's bow at the Taku Wind.

Then a new terror struck to her soul. She saw that he was slowly with horrible gentleness, shifting the wheel to starboard, so that the Maid continued to head into, and not away from the impending crash.

"Good lord!" she thought. "He's gone mad—like his boat. Page is our only hope."

Her gaze went out to the Taku Wind. Page's mate was bending over the port bridge rail, his face contorted as he mouthed unintelli-gible words and made grotesque gestures to the Maid's demoralized crew, clustered on the forward deck. She caught one frenzied phrase. "Throw your anchor!"

The Maid's deckhands sprang to comply.

"Leave that anchor alone!" Bourne's command roared through the screaming pandemonium.

His men obeyed. But instantly, frantically, they began tearing off their jackets and shoes.

The onrushing Maid was less than two boat-lengths from the white side of the Taku Wind. "The crew's getting ready to jump over-board," Denny thought despairing-ly. She was bracing herself for the crash when Bourne at the wheel flashed into a blur of action, and a terrific serve of the ship flung her headlong to the settee.

She scrambled to her feet, wondering that there was no rend-ing sound, no impact of splintering planks. She had a dizzying, whirl-ing sensation of speed, saw the white bulk of the Wind still ten feet away, and realized that the Maid had swung parallel to the other boat—was still swinging, literally flinging her stern at right angles to the head of Page's ship, while her racing screws threw up a mighty, roaring wave.

The avalanche of water hit squarely against the Wind's port bow. She rose on it, staggering. From her pilothouse came a wild cursing and a clanging of gongs, as Page, with a helper, tugged at his wheel to counteract the un-expected thrust of that powerful stern wave. But the Wind, already swung shoreward to avert the col-lision, veered still further inshore and then, with propellers churning in frantic futility, lay still just off the mouth of Moonlight Creek.

Denny saw this with a surge of exultation—though why she did not know. Everything, since the first shrill warning of the Maid's whistle, had happened with such explosive swiftness, such lightning-like ra-pidity, that her head still swam with bewilderment.

She found herself clinging to the window ledge, her knees trembling under her. It was a shock to realize that a strange tranquility pervaded the Stikine Maid. The only sound was the smooth purr of the single engine that was sending the ship steadily downstream under Bourne's quiet guidance. The Taku Wind was falling rapidly astern.

"Page's boat certainly will not go places—at least for a good many hours," Harp remarked exultantly. "She's hard and fast on Moonlight Bar! But, doggone my wild nature, skipper, you fooled all of us as bad as you fooled Page. I thought my last hour had come!"

Bourne half turned his head and grinned, but his eyes still held a cold, ruthless light.

Denny cried, "Wasn't there real-ly anything wrong with the Maid's steering gear? Was it all just—just—"

"Just bluff, Miss Denise. The best-played bluff I've ever seen in all my life!" Harp chortled.

When Denny continued to look puzzled, he explained, "Page makes his bet with Rev. you see, and says, 'No squawks; no alibis.' Then he has Stikine sneak aboard and wreck our starboard engine. But Rev, with only fifteen minutes of life left in the old mill, scares Page into shoving his nose close to Moon-light Bar and then he dirty-heels him!"

"And we're really going to win Harp?"

"Going to, Miss Denise?" whoop-ed Harp, executing a step of the sword dance. "Why, we've got the race in our pocket already!"

Seven hours later, Denny was pacing the floor of her room in the Wrangell Hotel—the same room in which she had waited for Bourne to come to her on her stormy wed-ding day. She was waiting for him now to fetch her ticket for the trip south on the white coast liner that lay at the dock in the sunlight.

She went to the open window and paused there, looking out to see if she could catch a glimpse of Bourne. Across the way the totem of the Raven caught and held her atten-tion for a moment. Alaska, the North, was in its carved face, look-ing questioningly into the illumi-nable distance. Its wide eyes seemed to be asking, "Where? Why? Whither?" And all at once Denny's heart, which should have been so

Like Apples? Try These Recipes

Apple Dumplings—Standard

Crust—8 tablespoons flour, 1/2 tsp. baking powder, pinch salt, 1 table-spoon lard.

Mix lightly. Add 4 tablespoons ice water, 1/2 apple cut in small pieces for each one, nutmeg to taste, bits of butter, 1 tsp. sugar. Roll in crust and bake. Serve with following sauce:

One tablespoon flour, 2 table-spoons sugar, 1 1/2 cups boiling water, 1/2 tablespoon butter.

Let come to a boil, then add 1 tsp. vanilla.

Boiled Apple Dumplings

Two eggs, 1 pt. milk, 2 cups flour and 2 tsp. baking powder.

Beat well, without separating eggs, add a pinch of salt, milk and 1 cup flour. To a second cup of flour add baking powder. Add this to the batter and as much more flour as is necessary to make a soft dough.

Roll out quickly 1/2 inch thick. Cut into squares, lay out two or three quarters of pared apples on each, sprinkle with sugar and pinch the dough over the apples. Have a number of pudding cloths ready, wrung out of cold water, and sprinkle well with flour. Put a dumpling in each, leave a little room for swelling and tie tightly. Drop into a kettle of rapidly boil-ing water and keep the water at a steady boil for an hour. Serve hot with hard sauce. Place a saucer in the bottom of kettle to prevent burning.

From Hotel Cleveland the entire city opens before you like a fan. Under the same roof with you are the five fine build-ings of the Terminal development, and the Union Terminal itself. A step to the north are the government buildings. Just to the west are the great wholesale houses for which the city is famous. To the south are the indus-trial plants which buy and sell all over the world. To the east are shops and theatres.

Convenience is only one of the many advantages Hotel Cleveland offers. Rooms are cheerful, comfortable. Meals are famous.

Everyone from bellboy to manager tries to prove we're glad to have you with us.

Emmanuel Church Women Plan Anniversary Rites

Daughters of Emmanuel, meeting last evening in the Emmanuel Lutheran church, appointed committees and made arrangements for the observance on Oct. 3 of the 45th anniversary of the founding of the Emmanuel church.

Committees include the following general chairman: Mrs. Andrew Drotleff, Mrs. John Thies, Mrs. William Bodendorfer, Mrs. Thomas Minth, Mrs. George Schneider and Mrs. Michael Linder. Mrs. Orrie Rutter will lead a group of church women who will have charge of the dining room.

The observance will include a banquet and special program when recognition will be given to Mr. and Mrs. Ernst Schmid, the only charter members of the original church congregation. Mr. and Mrs. Schmid were instrumental in organizing the church and he was a member of the first governing council.

Methodist Circles Are Entertained

Circle 1 of the Methodist church was entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Kirkbride, North Ellsworth ave. Fourteen members and one guest attended.

The members sewed for Salem City hospital. Plans were made for a covered dinner Oct. 27 at the home of Mrs. Harold Reeves, North Ellsworth ave. Mrs. Eva McNeelan and Mrs. Ira Burton were associate hostesses.

Circle No. 2
Mrs. E. E. Apple, South Ellsworth ave., was hostess to associates of Circle 2 Wednesday afternoon, when Mrs. J. D. Primm was program chairman.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Paul Holwick on the topic, "Service and Sacrifice." Readings were given by Mrs. Harry Kaufman, Mrs. N. L. Reich and Mrs. F. J. Stoudt. Contests and games concluded the program.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Apple and her daughters, Mrs. E. H. Ward and Mrs. Norman Phillips.

A rally day will be held Oct. 27 at the home of Mrs. S. D. Whinery, Newgardens rd. Roll call at that time will be "A Woman of Interest to Me." Every member is asked to bring a new member to the rally.

Circle 3 members had no meeting.

Circle No. 4
Circle 4 members were guests of Mrs. Howard Holloway at her home, Washington ave., at the quarterly birthday luncheon when five birthdays were celebrated. Twenty-four members and four new members were present.

Mrs. Edwin Smith led the devotions, which were followed by a regular business meeting.

Mrs. Oscar Bailey will entertain Oct. 27 at her home on Washington ave.

Circle 5 had the quarterly birthday dinner at the church.

Salem Garden Club Tour Arranged

A tour of a number of Salem gardens is planned as a feature of the meeting Monday of the Salem Garden club.

The tour will be held prior to the meeting at 3 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Andrew MacLeod, South Lincoln ave. Tea will be served after the business session.

Members are asked to meet at the Memorial building at 1:30 p. m. for the visit to the various gardens. For transportation they are asked to call Mrs. George Fronk, phone 734. In case of unfavorable weather the tour will not be made and members will meet at the MacLeod home at 2:30 p. m.

A good attendance is requested.

Mrs. T. E. Miller Class Hostess

Mrs. Charles McCorkhill was leader of the devotional service Wednesday evening during a meeting of the Wesleyan class of the Methodist church at the home of Mrs. T. E. Miller, Greenford rd.

The book, "As I Live and Breathe," was reviewed by Mrs. Guy Byers as a feature of the program. Mrs. Miller's daughter, Miss Norma Miller, entertained with a piano selection. Lunch was served after the meeting.

Dinner Party Honors Margaret Mounts

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Yates, south of Salem, entertained friends last evening at a dinner party at their home as a farewell courtesy for Miss Margaret Mounts, who will leave soon for Miami, Fla., to spend the winter.

Musical entertainment during the evening which was spent informally included guitar selection by Miss Snyder and piano numbers by Mrs. John Eckenroth.

Marriage Licenses

Marriage licenses have been granted at Lisbon to Joseph Kornbau of 412 West State st., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Kornbau, and Hazel Yeager of 191 Jennings ave., daughter of Mrs. Gertrude Yeager. Earl Kent and May Dearth of East Liverpool; Richard Powell and Mildred Wilkinson of Wellsview.

Recital Postponed

The recital planned by piano pupils of Miss Margaret M. Kirkbride for Friday evening in the Methodist church has been postponed until Tuesday evening at the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Bush and little daughter of the Damascus rd., are spending a few days with relatives in Dearborn, Mich.

Miss Janette Kuniewicz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kuniewicz of Prospect st., left yesterday for Columbus, where she is enrolled as a freshman at Ohio State university.

Miss May French returned yesterday afternoon to her home in Orlando, Fla., after spending three months here visiting relatives and friends.

Mrs. Charles Wilhelm of Pasadena, Calif., is visiting for a few weeks at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Parsons, North Ellsworth ave.

Moves Dance Studio To Salem

Mr. and Mrs. Cassidy

Bill Cassidy, who has conducted dancing classes in Salem, East Liverpool and Alliance for a number of years, has moved his studio from Alliance to Salem, he announced today.

The former Odd Fellows hall is the new location. Cassidy School of Dancing has an enrollment of 85 Salem youngsters, in addition to the classes from the other two cities. Mr. and Mrs. Cassidy will reside in an apartment on the second floor of the I. O. O. F. building and conduct classes in the third floor rooms.

FAREWELL FETE HONORS PASTOR

Rev. and Mrs. L. C. Henne Leave Winona For Scio Charge

WINONA, Sept. 23. — Mrs. Earl Rubie and Mrs. Lowell Whinery were hostesses to 24 members and guests of the Mizpah class at the M. E. church Tuesday evening. This was also a farewell party for Rev. and Mrs. Henne who moved to their new charge at Scio Wednesday.

Table decorations were of autumn flowers. Following the supper the president, Russell Whinery, presided at the business session and elected the following officers: President, James Patton; vice president, Mrs. Willard Cope; secretary-treasurer, Miss Ethel Andre.

Four regular teachers were chosen, each to preside one Sunday each month, as follows: Mrs. James Patton, Miss Esther Hoopes, Mrs. Willard Cope and Mrs. L. J. Mountz.

Lowell Whinery presented Rev. and Mrs. Henne with an auto rug as a gift of appreciation from the class. Mrs. Patton was in charge of the program. Richard Stamp sang two solos. Mrs. Stamp gave a reading, and William Eckman entertained the group with saxophone and vocal solos. The meeting closed with a short devotional period.

Installation of officers will be a feature. Approximately 60 friends of Rev. and Mrs. Henne attended a community party held in their honor at the Methodist church Monday evening. The evening was spent socially and refreshments served.

Banquet at Youngstown
Rev. Martin and Lydia Brantingham, Mrs. Willard Pim and Mrs. George Megraill attended the Christ Mission banquet held at Youngstown Monday evening.

Mrs. Jesse Edgerton, Mrs. Edgar McGrew and Miss Marguerite Pemberton attended the wedding of Herbert Hall and Miss Ruth Dodson of Barnesville Sept. 15. Herbert Hall is a grandson of Mrs. Beulah Edgerton.

FARM HARVEST LABOR SOUGHT

Men, Women and Youths Available for Work Asked to Register

A plan for registering persons who are available for a few days' work on farms to pick apples and to pick up potatoes has been worked out by a committee of apple and potato growers of Columbiana county in cooperation with the township and city officials of the northern part of Columbiana county.

A general scarcity of labor for harvesting the apple and potato crops in that section is anticipated by many growers. The harvest season will begin next week and will continue for a month, according to County Extension Agent Floyd Lower, who has helped work out the plan for getting laborers.

Persons who are available for work are asked to report immediately to the officials listed below. Women and older boys and girls not in school can also be used on some farms. Growers who are in need of help will then contact these officials to secure the names of the persons who want to work.

Assistance will also be given growers by the National Reemployment office at East Liverpool, where many men are registered. Following are the officials who will handle registrations and applications:

New Waterford and west side of Unity township: J. W. Bretz, New Waterford, township trustee. City of East Palestine, city hall. Columbiana and Fairfield township: Charles Ling, Columbiana, township clerk. Middlefield township: W. M. Green, Rogers, township clerk. (Telephone Charles Green.)

Ekrun township — L. H. Baker, Lisbon, Route 5, township clerk. (Telephone—Rogers.)

Leetonia and Salem township: W. W. Long, Leetonia, township clerk.

City of Salem—Mrs. Berry, city engineer's office, Tel. 90.

Butler township—J. H. Cameron, Salem, Route 1 (Tel. Damascus, township clerk).

Lisbon and Center township—W. A. Albright, Lisbon, township trustee.

Growers say they cannot yet determine how serious the shortage of labor may be in this section where large acreages of potatoes and apples are grown. However, the plan is expected to make available several hundred workers.

ARE YOU ONLY A THREE-QUARTER WIFE?

THERE are certain things a woman has to put up with and be a good sport.

Men, because they are men, can never understand a three-quarter wife—a wife who is all love and kindness three weeks in a month and a hell cat the rest of the time. No matter how your back aches—no matter how loudly your nerves scream—don't take it out on your husband.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three or four weeks of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and go "smiling through."

against a steel safety zone post.
She suffered numerous fractures and internal injuries. A blood transfusion was necessary.

The men backtracked into the city's east side and wrecked Judge Petras's automobile against a safety zone stanchion. They seized another machine, turned into a side street and abandoned it. Slapik separated from the three and was captured in a children's play tent in a nearby yard.

There the trail was lost. Police watched for black sedans (Chevrolets), one rented by Charles' wife before she visited the jail yesterday, and the other belonging to a brother of the convicts.

Blames Women For Guns
Sheriff Martin L. O. Donnell said every precaution had been taken to guard the prisoners, and that their only visitors were wives of the two Bird brothers and Miss Lou Hemley, Widmer's sweetheart.

Mrs. Frank Bird and Miss Hem-ley called at the jail Tuesday, he said. The sheriff declared that guns used in the escape could have been carried to the men in a woman's purse.

Explaining the disappearance of his companions, Slapik said they left the car on the east side when they thought the chase was over.
Two went in one direction and the third in another, he said, adding that he returned to the car and drove away after wandering around for a few minutes.

Slapik was arrested in Detroit last month and was awaiting grand jury action on first degree murder charges in connection with the fatal shooting of Special Policeman Laurence Krull when three men held up a Cleveland sandwich shop.

DEATHS

T. W. DAWES

LISBON, Sept. 23.—T. W. Dawes, former Lisbon resident, died Sept.
5 at his home in Middlesborough, England, according to word received here Wednesday by H. T.
Dawes, a son.

Mr. Dawes resided in Lisbon for nine years and was employed during that period by the National Brass and Copper Co. as electrician.
He returned to England in 1935.

Surviving are his wife and three daughters, all living in England, and a son, Harry T. Dawes of Lisbon.

JOHN J. BRADY

John J. Brady, 67, died at his home in Washingtonville on Wednesday at 1:15 p. m. following a long illness of complications.

Mr. Brady was born in Washingtonville Feb. 17, 1870, and had lived here all his life.
He is survived by his widow, Ella
Driscoll Brady, and four sisters:
Mrs. Ella Martin, Mrs. Frank Dean, Misses Anna and Birdie Brady all of Leetonia; and a niece, Rosemary Dean.

Funeral service will be held at St. Patrick's Catholic church in Leetonia on Saturday at 9 a. m.
with burial in Calvary cemetery at Leetonia.

Friends may call at the home of his sisters, Anna and Birdie Brady, in Leetonia anytime.

Township Placed Under Quarantine

COUNTY DOG WARDEN Daniel
Butch of Leetonia placed the entire district of Unity township under strict dog quarantine today as a result of a rabies outbreak in that area.

The dog warden announced that he will patrol the township and shoot all dogs found wandering at large.

Dog owners, under the quarantine, must keep their animals at home.

Butch also asked that dog owners notify him immediately if a dog displays unusual symptoms or is suspected of having rabies.

Mrs. Ralph W. Heck, residing on the East Palestine-New Waterford road, is seriously ill as the result of a dog bite.

Escape Attempt In Toledo Is Foiled

TOLEDO, Sept. 23.—An attempt by three Marion men to escape from the federal building here by pulling out a cell window bar was frustrated today when a passerby saw them and notified police.

The men, William Kinzek, 19;
William Lawson, 18, and Joseph Morvin, 41, are held on charges of violating the Dyer act.

CHINESE PORT CITIES BOMBED

modernized port were badly damaged.

The Sino-Japanese war ceased on all fronts today as far as the Japanese were concerned — but it was only for ten minutes. At dawn the quarter of a million Japanese soldiers on the North China and Shanghai fronts paused to pay homage to the emperor as the descendant of the Sun goddess.

It was the Japanese autumnal festival in honor of the emperor's imperial ancestors, one of the most sacred of Japanese rituals.
While the rain came down in sheets, the soldiers on all fronts dropped their arms and turned their faces reverently toward the imperial palace in Tokyo and renewed their allegiance to the sovereign.

Resume Fighting
Then they resumed their grim business of fighting.

At Peiping, Japanese announced their army had shattered the Chinese concrete defense line north of Paotingfu and had driven the Chinese back in hand-to-hand fighting to within a mile of that strategic base 80 miles south of here.

Sharp anxiety was felt for five American citizens who were believed to have remained in Paotingfu, which Japanese warplanes have been bombing daily.

The smashing offensive began as soon as darkness fell last night, the Japanese said, when they forced the crossing of the Tsao river eight miles above Paotingfu on the trunk railroad to Hankow and then assaulted the concrete Chinese redoubs that form a virtually unbroken wall across central Hopei province.

QUAKERS SEEK FIRST GRID WIN SINCE NOV. 1935

Schumacher Faces Davis In Rubber Game Of National League Pennant Series

Schroeder's 1937 Eleven Out To Turn New Leaf In Opener Against Sebring

Quakers Will Attempt To Crash Winning Column For First Time In Nearly Two Years; Over 3,000 Fans Expected To See Contest

Seeking their first football victory since the bleak days of November, 1935, Coach Carl Schroeder's Salem High school Quakers tackle Sebring McKinley High's Trojans in their first game of the 1937 season under the lights of Reilly stadium tomorrow night.

The game is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock with Andy Lindsay of Struthers, Ray Corl of Canton and George Porter of Lisbon officiating.

Anxious to get a look at Schroeder's new and bigger edition of Quaker gridgers, over 3,000 fans are expected to witness the inaugural clash of the Red and Black's nine-game schedule.

New uniforms, consisting of red jersey satin pants, red and white headgear, white jerseys with red and black stripes on the sleeves and white striped stockings, will be worn for the first time, giving the Quakers their most colorful opening game appearance in Salem football history.

Boasting more weight and greater defensive strength than last year's team, which went through a disastrous season, the Quakers will attempt to turn a new leaf in their gridiron book by ending a losing streak which started nearly two years ago.

The long string of set-backs, stretching over 13 games and two seasons, is broken only by the scoreless tie the Red and Black gridgers played with Lisbon last fall.

The last victory credited to a Quaker grid team was gained Nov. 11, 1935 over Lisbon, 12 to 7. Since then, the Red and Black has been unable to hit the football winning column.

Seventeen days of pre-season practice came to an end today for the Quakers with a final workout in preparation for tomorrow's opener. The last of the pre-season drills was to be held under the lights at the stadium in order to acquaint the gridgers with after-dark ball-handling.

Fearing Sebring's aerial attack, which last season was the key to their offense and produced the game winning touchdown, Schroeder sent the squad through a brief scrimmage out at Centennial park yesterday, brushing up on pass defense in addition to line defense.

Schroeder was not exceptionally pleased with some of the defensive work mostly the tackling. Pass defense was also spotty and will definitely have to be better tomorrow night if the Quakers hope to stop Sebring's aerial tactics.

Except for Bob Clark, who suffered a hand injury in practice last week, the entire varsity squad is in good physical condition, itching for a crack at the team which upset them, 7 to 0, last season.

Clark will not be able to take part in the game because of a split finger, which has kept him out of practice all week.

Ole Olea and Joe Morris are turning injured ankles, but Schroeder said today that he believes both will be able to play in the opening encounter.

A big edge in weight and a strong defense will give the Quakers their biggest advantage over the Sebring eleven, which will be missing four regulars who were injured in an automobile accident last Friday.

One of the heaviest teams in Salem High school grid history will probably start the contest. The line, regardless of its makeup, will average between 165 and 170 pounds. The backfield will average between 150 and 155 pounds.

Defensively, the Quakers appear as strong as any scholastic team possibly could be with no game experience under its belt. Pre-season practices have indicated that a stiff defense will be the Quakers' best point. However, game conditions may change the picture.

The Quakers' offense has shown up as their weakest point in practice thus far. Laxity in blocking and poor timing in play-running have been the main faults in the offense. The squad has shown some improvement in offensive play this week, but it has not been enough to warrant their being hailed as perfected in this department of the game. Poor blocking may be their downfall.

Unless the competition proves exceptionally stiff, which, by the way, is not in the least unlikely, Schroeder will have a chance to test several new players whom he is counting on for future service this season.

Among these newcomers are big Salme Lutsch, 182-pound fullback prospect, Leonard Bonsall, 176-pound tackle, and Dave Cope, 200-pound tackle. None of these gridgers had previous game experience, although all of them figure to be regulars if they show up well.

Although not a newcomer, Charles Wentz will get his first action as a guard in the contest. Wentz earned a letter at fullback last season, but was transferred to a guard position this year when Schroeder was confronted with starting vacancies at this spot in the line.

Schroeder is also anxious to see how his newest backfield discovery, Bud Dean, will act under fire. Dean transferred to Salem last year from Cleveland Collinwood and has appeared as one of the best blockers and

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

By EDDIE BRIETZ.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—In his day, "Dumb Dan" Morgan handled some of the best fighters in the business. . . . He is known as a keen judge of ring talent. . . . He says M. Marcel Thill (pronounced Teal) is sure fire to lick Fred Apostoli tonight. . . . Don't laugh. Dan picked Max Schmeling to rout Joe Louis. . . . Then made it two in a row by coming right out in meeting and predicting Tommy Farr would stay 15 rounds with Louis. . . . Write your own ticket, but if you have a Bob or so to spare you might string along with "Dumb (that's a laugh) Dan."

The big show started out with four champs, but they've now dwindled to three and a half. Thill not being recognized in this country. . . . When Gabby Hartnett pinned the Giants' ears back with his triple with the bases loaded the other day, a wag remarked: "That guy will be a good ball player when he gets a little older." . . . Julian Black, in town for the fisicuffs, says Joe Louis has gone nuts over softball. . . . "And all he can do is strike out," added Julian. . . . Latest gossip has the Reds offering Bert Shotton a one-year contract as manager.

The Garden made a sporting gesture and gave Jimmy Johnston the office furniture he has been using. . . . What would you say if this time tomorrow?

Football is right on us, all right. . . . A weekly mag features Francis Wallace (of Kid Gallahad fame) in a well done pigskin preview. . . . Jimmy Crowley, Fordham; Jimmy Phelan, Washington; Bernie Bierman, Minnesota, and Frank Thomas, Alabama, expert for another magazine and each picks some other guy's team to cop the honors in his particular section. . . . Gunnar Larund, the Finnish heavy, will cover tonight's fight for a Helsingfors newspaper. . . . The Gunnar is doing a pretty fair job of mastering English compared to some of the other foreign fighters.

Al Schacht, baseball comedian, just bucked clowning in the minors, was spotted in Lahiff's tavern. . . . He was grinning as he struggled with a column of figgers. . . . "I'm just checking up," he said. . . . "I cleared more than three times what I used to get for coaching and clowning in the majors. . . . Going back? . . . Just try to keep me out of the sticks. . . . If we had our choice of places to go tomorrow, Columbus would get it. . . . Texas Christian and Ohio State. . . . Boy, oh boy!"

Officials of the San Antonio club of the Texas league have the misery. . . . They are blue in the face trying to explain to fans why they traded Pitcher Ash Hill to Oklahoma City. . . . All Ash did for Oklahoma City was win 31 ball games. . . . Looks like Jimmy Wilson at Cincinnati and more power to him. Those trucking tycoons the Messrs. James J. Braddock and Joe Gould report biz is O. K. . . . Jake Todd of Erskine college in South Carolina is the only one-man coaching staff in Dixie. . . . He double-times with the varsity and Freshmen and last year borrowed from his varsity reserves so his 11-man frosh squad could play out its schedule. . . . Henry Armstrong looks like a miniature edition of Joe Louis when it comes to socking. . . .

No one could find out definitely why the Hippodrome was being picketed yesterday. . . . Somebody said it was because all the boys being employed by Mike Jacobs at the Hippodrome are not union boys. . . . Big Ten football prestige may get a jolt when Texas Christian and Ohio State collide Saturday. . . . Add success stories: Fred Thomson, coach of the spectacular Arkansas Razorbacks, is one of the few men who jumped from a small-town high school directly to a major university—and made good. . . . Don't look now, boys, but another major league manager is about to get the old heave-ho.

If Sixto Escobar trims Harry Jeffra tomorrow night, he'll vacation in Europe. . . . If he loses, his plans are uncertain—he won't dare to go home. . . . Erie, Pa., has the distinction of contributing the longest and shortest names on the South Carolina football squad. . . . A. is Leonislaus Josephus Franciszeko Antonio Krotoszyński, a guard. . . . B. is Al Grygo, a triple-threat back who may be an Olympic decathlon champion one of these days. . . . Tony Canzoneri is on record as predicting Lou Ambers will be the only champ to retain his title on the carnival of champions card tomorrow night.

GIANTS OUT OF TROUBLE AFTER WEDNESDAY WIN

Regain 2½ Game Lead In National Loop; Face Cubs 3rd Time

BY BILL BONI

It was Hal Schumacher against Curt Davis today as the Giants and the Cubs went into the grand finale of their super de luxe, pennant-or-nothing series at Wrigley field. But, from the Giants' side of the fence, at least half of the battle is won.

When Cliff Melton put his six-hits damper on the Bruins yesterday to squelch them, 6-0, it jacked the Terry-men's lead back to two and a half games. So, even if the Cubs should belt Schumacher out of the box this afternoon, as they have on three previous occasions, the Giants still will go home on top of the pack by a game and a half.

Then there'll be only the Dodgers, Phils and Bees left to subdue—clubs which, from past experience, the Giants know aren't as tough to take as the Cubs.

Not that the Cubs were so tough yesterday. Melton, the lanky, gangling first-year varsity man who ranks second only to Hubbell on Bill Terry's staff, attended to that. He attended to it so well that only two Bruins got as far as second base, none of them got more than a single and not one got a free ticket to first.

It was Melton's eighteenth win of the year and one of his best. Behind him the resourceful Giants, with Right Fielder Mel Ott still holding down third base and former Third Baseman Lou Chiozza playing center field, put on a demonstration of snappy fielding that caught the Cubs trying to make singles do the work of doubles and in general served as a proper setting for the Melton game.

Cannon-ball Phil's performance should bolster Schumacher's morale for today's task. Until yesterday, the second-string Giant southpaw had had no more success against Chicago than the first-string Giant right-hander.

When the Giants pulled themselves back from the danger of sliding into second place, the Yankees moved within one game of clinching their second straight American league title. Monte Pearson's 4-1 and Kemp Wicker's 11-0 trimmings of the Browns yesterday, despite the fact Detroit also won, left the Yanks needing only one more victory or one Tiger defeat to make the pennant a certainty.

Outside of the Giants' one-sided triumph, the National league went in for tight ball games. The Bees upset the Pirates, 3-2, in ten innings behind another good job by Milt Shoffner, and the Phillies consigned the Reds to the cellar and moved out themselves by winning, 3-2. The Cardinals made it eight straight defeats for Brooklyn, this time by a 4-2 count.

The Tigers, whipped the Red Sox, 6-4, as Rudy York connected for the circuit the second day in a row; the White Sox concentrated their scoring in two innings to rout the Athletics, 9-3, and Jimmy Deshong held off an eighth-inning rally by the Indians to give Washington a 6-4 decision.

Plenty Of Material Gives Duke Chance To Vault Into Nation's Grid Spotlight

DURHAM, N. C., Sept. 23.—Duke has loads of football manpower this year and a schedule rigid enough to permit the Blue Devils to vault into the national picture if they can pick up the victories.

"We have a very good first string backfield," commented the ultra-conservative Wallace Wade who is grooming his seventh team here.

Clarence (Ace) Parker, the All-American halfback, has gone, but the railbirds predict that Bob O'Mara, 190-pound junior fullback, and Eric Tipton, 175-pound junior halfback, will make fans forget the loss.

Versatile Backs

Elmore Hackney, 175, a senior, will call signals and Bob Spangler will fill the blocking back assignment. All four can kick, pass and run.

Ahead of that attacking group will be a veteran line, averaging slightly more than 190 pounds. Experienced ends are needed but Wade is jockeying with seasoned men and may get the performance on the flanks he wants.

Charlie Fischer, 190 and senior, was made over in mid-season last year and will occupy one flank. Herb Hudgings, 178, Fred Edwards, 190, and McCauley Clark, 178, all seniors, are available, too.

There's no doubt about the tackles. They'll be Joe Brunansky, 209, and Capt. Woody Lipscomb, 207, powerful, fast, experienced; both seniors. Willard Perdue, 180-pound sophomore, may break in to guard because of sensational training-season performances. Guard monogram men include Fred Yorke, 183, and Bob Alabaster, 183, both juniors, and Clarence Badgett, 184, a senior. Dan Hill, Jr., who made the All-Southern conference team as a soph last fall, will have his 195 pounds back in harness. His understudy will be Fordon Burns, 185, a sophomore.

Develop Reserves

Wade and his crew of assistants have given close attention to development of reserve material for use in a 10-game schedule, and apparently the Blue Devils will be well fortified in substitutes.

The schedule: Sept. 25, V. P. I. at Greensboro, N. C. (night); Oct. 2, Davidson at Davidson, N. C.; Oct. 9, Tennessee here; Oct. 16, Georgia Tech at Atlanta, Ga.; Oct. 23, Colgate at Hamilton, N. Y.; Oct. 30, Washington and Lee at Richmond, Va.; Nov. 6, Wake Forest here; Nov. 13, North Carolina here; Nov. 20, N. C. State at Raleigh; Nov. 27, Pittsburgh here.

BOXING GREATS ON FIGHT CARD

Four Champions Battle On Jacobs' All-Star Ring Program

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Eight of the grandest little fighting men on earth will dance and fiddle for the ear and his court under the dazzling arc lights of the Polo grounds tonight.

They'll play fiddles with lefts, rights and uppercuts on Promoter Mike Jacobs' "carnival of champions" and, if the press agents aren't kidding, a crowd of 40,000 or upwards will pay more than $300,000 to watch four titleholders fight to keep their crowns.

This is the all-star lineup, all matches 15 rounds to a decision if not satisfaction:

Marcel Thill, the bald-headed man from France who holds the European but not the world's mid-weight championship, vs. Fred Apostoli, an ex-San Francisco bellhop with a good wallop and not much style.

Barney Ross, smart king of the welterweights from Chicago, vs. Ceferino Garcia, the dangerous little Filipino with the celebrated "bolo punch."

Lou Ambers, lightweight champion from Herkimer, N. Y., who fights hard only when his crown is at stake, vs. Pedro Montanez, a real punching whirlwind from Puerto Rico, who is no slouch.

Sixto Escobar, king of the bantamweights and also from Puerto Rico, vs. Baltimore's Harry Jeffra, who has been accusing his rival of ducking him for two years.

Broadway's smart money, which often finds its final resting place in some "sucker's" hip pocket, is riding with Ross, Apostoli, Ambers and Escobar.

WIAND ELEVEN OPENS SEASON

Columbiana Will Face Salineville In First Game Tomorrow

COLUMBIANA, Sept. 23.—Coach Jimmy Wiand's reconstructed Columbiana High school football team makes its first public appearance Friday afternoon at Salineville, hoping to repeat its one-sided victory of last year when a 41-0 score was piled up.

However, this is a remote chance, as only four veterans are available for this game. Jack Poulton, regular tackle last year, is out of action with an infected knee.

Coach Wiand will start four veterans, five of last year's reserves and two lads who have not played football before. The latter two are 210-pound Uselton, who will take Poulton's place at tackle, and Bauer, a newcomer from Greenford, at end.

The veterans are the high-scoring Fisher at fullback; E. Poulton at center; Cole at tackle, and Eckert at end. Magill will be at quarterback and the Entriken twins will start at the halfback positions. R. Irons and Culp complete the line at the guard spots.

Fisher's 185 pounds brings the backfield weight average to 150, while the starting line will run about 165, due to the heavy tackles. This brings the team average to 160 pounds, which will be weakened considerably when substitutions are made.

The two Burkes and Dewalt will get playing opportunities in the backfield, as will Stevens and Gieckler at end. Other squad members include: Fullerton, S. Irons, Moser, Hoover, Moore, Chamberlain, Bush, Holloway, Howell and Zellers.

This week's game is the only Friday tilt on the schedule. Most of the team will go to Columbus Saturday to witness the Ohio State-Texas Christian game, which is the High School day feature this year.

ZUPPKE PLANS TO START FIRST YEAR PLAYERS

Wants to Learn In Hurry Value of Sophomore Grid Prospects

BY WILLIAM WEEKES

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Bob Zupke apparently is determined to learn in a hurry whether this year's crop of sophomores is going to contribute anything useful to his 25th University of Illinois football team.

Since the start of the pre-season training period, the wily coach-artist has been working on the two-team system, concentrating on various combinations of 22 men. After yesterday's long drill, Zupke indicated he might start six first year men against Ohio university Saturday in the opening battle of the season. And off Ohio university's 80 to 6 victory over Rio Grande last week, Zupke is likely to find out considerable about sophomores and everyone else.

Ohio university, which bumped off Zupke's 1935 team in an opening game, is coached by one of his prize pupils, Don Peden.

Defensive work kept the Minnesota, Purdue, and Indiana squads, all of which meet formal competition for the first time Saturday, busy in yesterday's practices. The Golden Gophers drilled against running plays and pass formations in preparing for North Dakota State, and the Boilers worked against Butler plays.

At Indiana, Bo McMillin could see Centre college completing passes all over the place against the Hoosiers Saturday, saying "it takes more speed than we have in our backfield to have a decent pass defense."

Michigan displayed power in shoving over two touchdowns in 15 plays against a third string eleven, and Wisconsin hustled through its fourth and last scrimmage in preparation for Saturday's inaugural with South Dakota State. Fearing scrimmage might result in more injuries before their intersection warfare with Texas Christian Saturday, Francis Schmidt let Ohio State's Buckeyes off with a light session. Chicago devoted morning and afternoon workouts to fundamentals.

BOWLING RESULTS

The city's only women's bowling league opened its 1937-38 season at the Masonic temple alleys last night with all eight teams of the circuit getting into action.

Three teams, the Elks No. 2, A. A. A. and Kresge's, won all three games of their matches. Elks No. 2 defeated Elks No. 1, the A. A. A. spanked the Electric Furnace, and Kresge's trimmed Mullins.

The Ohio Edison won two out of three games from the Salem News in the other match. Miss Grace McCrea of the News had the high single and high three game scores for the night with 191 and 463. Mrs. Margaret Mounts had the second high three-game score with 458.

The Pastime league lifted the lid on its season at the Grate Recreation alleys last night with Mullins Die Room taking three games from the defending champion, Ohio Edison Electric Shop. Snell Auto Supply winning three from Loudon V-8's of Hanoverton, and the Police Dept. taking two out of three from the Stillicious Chocolate Milks.

THOMPSON SETS COURSE RECORD

Long-Driving Pro Comes In With Two 34s To Take Golf Lead

BELMONT, Mass., Sept. 23.—With Belmont's course record tucked under his belt, long-driving Jimmy Thomson swung off with a two-stroke advantage today on the second half of the 36-hole medal play of Belmont's $12,000 open golf tournament.

His eyes trained on the $3,000 first place money of the season's richest tournament, the blonde course-buster from Shawnee, Pa., led 153 other starters seeking the 64 places to which the field will be cut tonight.

Thomson came home with two 34's. He played with hands taped to ease the pain of blisters acquired in a heavy string of exhibitions.

All the leaders, who include most of golfdom's top flight, remained in the running, although Ed Dudley, Philadelphia Ryder cupper, with a 79, and Albany's Tom Creavy with 81, were close to the 70 deadline.

Sam Sneed from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., co-favorite with Lawson Little, Jr., of San Francisco and Denny Shute, Boston P. G. A. titlist, was in a three-way tie for second place with Byron Nelson of Reading, Pa., and Dick Metz of Chicago. All carded 70's, one under par.

Tony Manero, Salem, Mass., and Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., were next with 71's, and Little joined eight others in the 72 group. His mates included Horton Smith, Robert Burns of Montreal, Canadian P. G. A. champion, and Harry Cooper.

Shute carded 73 with Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Ill., and seven others.
